

How we can support you

Sing with Us choirs

Our Sing with Us choirs are for anyone affected by cancer. They're fun, friendly and a great source of support. Our research has shown singing is good for you too. It's a wonderful way to lift your spirits, reduce anxiety and be part of something special.

We have choirs across the country and new people are joining us all the time.

Tele-friends service

We know being affected by cancer can be difficult and you may be feeling alone and isolated. We're here to support you so that you can talk about the things that matter to you.

One of our trained volunteers, could be matched with you, for a weekly phone call. Some of our paired Tele-friends enjoy talking about their interests and hobbies. Our volunteers can also talk to you about the support we can offer you at Tenovus Cancer Care.

Counselling service

Talking to a counsellor can help you explore your feelings, our experienced BACP registered Counsellors may be able to help you adjust to what it means to live with cancer.

Access to this service:

Our individual counselling sessions are currently only available to those referred by identified healthcare professionals.

We offer a Virtual Group Service with a range of support that can be accessed by anyone affected by cancer. For details visit our website.

Mobile Support Units

Our Mobile Support Units are in the community bringing treatments closer to home. We work with local health boards to deliver treatments for lymphoedema as well as chemotherapy and immunotherapy.

They're light, warm and friendly, with the same clinical standards you'd expect from a hospital. You can park right outside, for free. Because we see fewer people there are no appointment delays.

Access to this service:

This service is available by referral from a health professional only. To find out more visit our website.

All-Wales Cancer Community

We want everyone affected by cancer, anywhere in Wales, to have a voice, and for these voices to be heard. Become part of The All-Wales Cancer Community and tell us about the issues most important to you.

You can help improve outcomes and experiences for people affected by cancer in Wales.

How to get help

Support Line

If you or someone you love has been affected by cancer, our free Support Line is here for you. It's for anyone affected by cancer and our experienced nurses can offer advice on diagnosis, treatment, side-effects, and anything else that's on your mind.

Our team is here 365 days a year to answer all types of questions about all types of cancer, or simply things you might not feel comfortable sharing with your family or loved ones.

Access to this service:

Call us free on 0808 808 1010

Lines are open 9am - 5pm Monday to Friday.
10am - 1pm weekends and bank holidays.

If we are unable to take your call, please leave a message and we will get back to you as soon as we can.

Ask the nurse

Sometimes it's easier to put things down in words rather than talk about it.

Or you might have questions about cancer you don't want to ask your doctor.

Access to this service:

Just visit our website or scan this QR code, and fill in the simple form to send us your questions, and we'll get back to you by the next working day.

How we can support you

Cancer Callback service

If you've just been diagnosed with cancer, our free Callback service can support you as go through your treatment.

You'll get a series of regular calls from one of our dedicated nurses who can answer questions and offer support about absolutely anything to do with your diagnosis or treatment.

Access to this service:

Your healthcare provider may be able to refer you to this service. Callers who ring our Support Line, who are identified as having an ongoing need for nurse support, are offered this service.

Benefits Advice service

Cancer can lead to unexpected costs and money worries.

You may earn less because you need to work fewer hours and then find that you're spending more on heating and travelling to hospital.

We're here to help and our specialist advisors can guide you through the benefits and grants that you might be entitled to.
